IPOsystem implemented by UIBS Teamwork is being used at our company since 2012 and on this basis I can express my opinion on our cooperation and the operation of the System.

Among the many actions taken by the Management Board to modernize the company, we introduced new management and work organization methods thanks to the modern IPOsystem tool for production planning and cost evaluation.

Thanks to the IPOsystem platform, we have completely changed the production area management system. The innovative solutions of the system allowed to reduce problems with overproduction in progress and improved internal communication. In addition, by using IPOsystem, we improved the timeliness of contract execution and process supervision. We have direct and up-to-date knowledge of individual production stages, both in terms of their advancement and the costs involved.

During the cooperation, a group of UIBS Teamwork specialists responded to our needs on an ongoing basis by actively adapting the elements of the system. One should also emphasize their deep knowledge in the field of production process management, which often helped in solving current problems. The introduced system and post-implementation supervision process gives us the possibility of continuous improvement of production and management processes. In the near future, we expect a further significant improvement in the effectiveness of our operations.

IPOsystem has become our basic tool for ongoing production management and we are convinced of the right decision.
